Section 3 of the Housing and Urban Development Act of 1968, as amended, 12 U.S.C. 1701u, mandates that the Department ensures that employment and other economic opportunities generated by its housing and community development assistance programs are directed toward low- and very-low income persons, particularly those who are recipients of government assistance housing. The regulations are found at 24 CFR Part 135. The information will be used by the Department to monitor program recipients' compliance with Section 3, to assess the results of the Department's efforts to meet the statutory objectives of Section 3, to prepare reports to Congress, and by recipients as self-monitoring tool. The data is entered into a database and will be analyzed and distributed. The collection of information involves recipients receiving Federal financial assistance for housing and community development programs covered by Section 3. The information will be collected annually to assist HUD in meeting its reporting requirements under Section 808(e)(6) of the Fair Housing Act and Section 916 of the HCDA of 1992. Part III: Summary Comments

CDBG:

All Grant subrecipients are made aware of the Section 3 requirements and are advised on how to recruit Section 3 businesses and individuals, through semi-annual workshop presentations made by ADECA. Construction contractors bidding on CDBG related contracts are made aware of Section 3 goals through pre-bid meetings and preconstruction conferences. Every CDBG project is monitored by ADECA to track the local Section 3 recruitment attempts through advertising and disseminating project information to the appropriate groups that include the Alabama Small Business Development Center, Alabama's Office of Minority Business Enterprise, Alabama Department of Transportation Business Database, local Public Housing Authorities, as well as other local business recruiters which may operate in the project areas.

The heavy construction activities most commonly undertaken in CDBG projects are typically awarded to contractors who usually already have a preexisting crew of employees to perform the work on the projects. Because these contractors are the low bidders awarded these contracts, Section 3 recruitment is not always achievable in the time allotted for each project to be completed within a timely manner so that the CDBG projects can be closed out by ADECA. However, the State continues to strive toward achieving the Section 3 goals through its continued administration of the CDBG program in Alabama's non-entitlement areas.

Part III: Summary Comments

DTR:

All 2012 and 2013 Disaster Grant subrecipients are located in the areas of Alabama that were affected by the April 2011 tornados. These subrecipients are made aware of the Section 3 requirements and are advised on how to recruit Section 3 businesses and individuals to work on the Disaster Grant projects through public hearings held by ADECA at the local government level prior to the start of each round of Disaster Grant funding. Construction contractors bidding on these Disaster Grant related contracts are made aware of Section 3 goals through pre-bid meetings and preconstruction Conferences conducted by the local government subrecipients and their own administrative staff. Every Disaster Grant project is monitored by ADECA to track the local Section 3 recruitment attempts through advertising and disseminating project information to the appropriate groups that include the Alabama Small Business Development Center, Alabama's Office of Minority Business Enterprise, Alabama Department of Transportation Business Database, local Public Housing Authorities, as well as other local business recruiters which may operate in the project areas.

The heavy construction activities most commonly undertaken in Disaster Grant projects are typically awarded to contractors who usually already have a preexisting crew of employees to perform the work on the projects (which include multi-family housing/apartment complex construction, single family housing rehabilitation, farmer's market construction, town hall/fire station/police station construction, grocery store construction, and infrastructure construction that includes roads, streets, water and sewer systems construction, and demolition). Because these contractors are the low bidders awarded these contracts, Section 3 recruitment is not always achievable in the time allotted for each Disaster Grant project to be completed within a timely manner so that the projects can be closed out by ADECA. However, the State continues to strive toward achieving the Section 3 goals through its continued administration of the Disaster Grant program in Alabama's tornado affected areas.
